

Volunteer opportunity with Research for the Front Lines

Do you want to contribute to the fight for climate and environmental justice in Canada?

Have you worked in environmental science or a related field and have skills and time to offer? Or maybe you have deep experience in topics like environmental investigations, environmental assessments, or environmental public health and can mentor less experienced volunteers to ensure high quality, rigorous work?

Research for the Front Lines is expanding our network and we're particularly looking for people with backgrounds in applied science or analytical testing of environmental pollutants who can volunteer some labour to enhance the support we provide to Indigenous Land Defenders and other frontline folks.

If this sounds compelling to you, please sign up to volunteer or mentor using the form on our website.

Help us spread the word by sharing this request with friends and colleagues you think would be interested!

You can stay connected with us through our website and on social media:

Website: researchforthefrontlines.ca

Mastodon: ResearchForTheFrontLines@cosocial.ca

Bluesky: ResearchForTheFrontLines.cosocial.ca.ap.brid.gy

Instagram: @research4thefrontlines

Facebook: Research for the Front Lines